

LexAble Limited – Cookie Policy

What are cookies?

Our website uses a small number of non-intrusive cookies. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer, mobile phone or tablet by websites that you visit. They are widely used in order to make websites work, or work more efficiently, as well as to provide information to website owners.

We may use data gathered from your use of our website to analyse and adapt the site in order to manage our space effectively. We may also use this data for trouble shooting, data analysis, testing, maintaining security and safety.

What type of cookies does the website use?

Google Analytics

We collect cookies through Google Analytics and to learn more about your use of our website. We use this information to compile reports and to help us improve the site. These cookies collect information in an anonymous form, including the number visitors to our website, where the visitors have come from and the pages they have visited. For more information on the cookies that Google Analytics collects, please visit:

<https://developers.google.com/analytics/devguides/collection/analyticsjs/cookie-usage?hl=en>.

To opt out of being tracked by Google Analytics on our website, untick the “Statistics” option, or to do so across all websites, please visit:

YouTube

Our website also uses embedded videos from YouTube using YouTube's privacy-enhanced mode. This mode may set cookies on your computer once you click on the YouTube video player, but YouTube will not store personally-identifiable cookie information for playbacks of embedded videos using the privacy-enhanced mode. For more information on embedded videos from YouTube, please visit:

WordPress

Our website uses WordPress, an online website creation and hosting tool. As a result, cookies may be used by WordPress for a variety of different purposes, including enabling our website to properly function. For more information on the cookies that WordPress uses, please visit:

<https://en.support.wordpress.com/cookies/>

Cookiebot

We use Cookiebot to control the cookies on our website. Cookiebot uses a CookieConsent cookie to remember your choice for a year.

Can I control the use of cookies on my device?

You can control the cookies in the banner at the bottom of our page by selecting which cookies you allow us to use.

Most web browsers (including Chrome, Edge, Firefox and Safari) also allow you to control your cookie settings and to delete any cookies already stored on your computer or other device.

You can control the use of cookies on your device, including deleting and blocking the cookies we and other sites use, through the browser settings on your device, but please note that any changes you make may affect your ability to properly use our website. To find out more about the way cookies work, how to see what cookies have been set and how to manage and delete them, visit www.allaboutcookies.org.

What about when I am redirected to third party sites?

Our website sometimes re-directs you to third party sites. For example when purchasing our software, you may be re-directed to E-junkie, Paypal and/or 2Checkout to complete the payment process. As these websites are operated by third parties, we have no control over their use of cookies.
